The Theology of Premortal Life

Pastor Robinson invites you to join him for Wednesday evening Bible Study as we study the theology of premortal life.

This is a controversial subject that has been debated by theologians for many years. They are generally divided by denominational lines but many are also divided within their associated denominational. It is safe to say this doctrine is one that has not unified the global church. We will take a look at this doctrine from the perspective of one who believe in this doctrine and one who argues against it. As we study this doctrine together as a church family I pray as we've stated before that you keep an open mind and allow the Holy Spirit to lead you.

I encourage you to join me at Bible Study to learn more about God's divine plan for our life.
